

TIM CULLOTY

I was born in London before the War, a member of Saint Monica's Church and School in Hoxton Square. The school was evacuated at the start of the War to Wellingborough, Northants, and after the War I attended St Aloysius College, Highgate, London.

I did National Service for two years in Egypt. The best thing in my life was to meet Freda in 1956 we married two years later and moved to Guildford. We were members of a very lively Parish and delighted when Vatican II happened. Our two children, Aidan and Geraldine attended St Peter's Catholic School.

We came to Portsmouth in 1986 and have been very happy here. We now have five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, who live in the town. We were pleased when Sisters Josie and Sheelagh joined our parish at St Joseph's and introduced us to the FMDM charism which resulted in us becoming Associates.
