

Sisters Elvine and Mambwe from Zambia

find University life in Sheffield exciting.

Elvine and Mambwe from Zambia are doing their Masters degree in Physiotherapy in Sheffield University. Currently, they are residing in the Parish house of Hallam which is a short walk from the Church.

Mambwe says:

"Our fellow students are of various faiths, and there is great respect for each individual's belief and practice.

Some of the students know nothing about religious life and so I have the opportunity to share my life and faith with them.

I live my religious life happily, upholding the values, and hopefully this is a witness to those whom I encounter in the classroom settings or in the hospitals.

On Saturdays I also work as a volunteer at a play group for children with Asperger Syndrome.

It is a joy to work with these special children and it gives me the opportunity to reach out to those in need beyond my life at the university."

During term break, Elvine and Mambwe return to our Motherhouse in Ladywell Convent, Surrey.
